RE: Public Records Request

Dear Collin:

This letter is in response to your Access to Public Records Act ("APRA"), R.I.G.L. 38-2-1, et seq., request received on May 12, 2026 to provide the following information:

"I am writing to submit a formal request under the Rhode Island Access to Public Records Act.

Requester information:

- Name: Collin Dillinger
- Organization: Grades LLC
- Preferred Contact Method: Email (collin@grades.llc)

Pursuant to the Rhode Island Access to Public Records Act, I request a digital copy of the grade distributions for all courses, sections, and instructors for the past 3 years at Rhode Island College.

This request is for aggregate grade distribution data only and does not seek any student-level records or personally identifiable information.

Please provide the records in CSV (comma-separated values) or Microsoft Excel (.xlsx) format, delivered electronically via email. For each course and section, please include the following details:

- Semester
- Course Subject
- Course Number
- Course Title
- Course Section
- Instructor(s)
- Number of students that received each grade

If fees are anticipated, please notify me in advance of incurring any charges. If any portion of this request is denied, please provide a written explanation citing the specific exemption(s) and the basis for withholding."

Please accept this communication and the attached available records included in the Appendix section of this letter as Rhode Island College's (RIC) response to your request. The search for the above records that you requested resulted in the location of one record containing information responsive to your request that is from the 2023-2024 academic school year.

We have determined that your request is partially denied for the reasons that follow and the available record located in the Appendix was redacted to remove information for courses with small enrollment totals that could potentially result in the compromise of protected personally identifiable information.

Under APRA, records that are made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connection with the transaction of official business by an agency, as defined, are public records unless excluded from that definition. Among the exclusions are "personal individually-identifiable records otherwise deemed confidential by federal or state law or regulation, or the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552 et seq.; provided, however, with respect to employees, and employees of contractors and subcontractors working on public works projects which are required to be listed as certified payrolls, the name, gross salary, salary range, ...business telephone number, the city or town of residence, and date of termination shall be public.” R.I.G.L. 38-2-2(4)(A)(I)(b).

Among the purposes of APRA is the intent to “protect from disclosure information about particular individuals maintained in the files of public bodies when disclosure would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” R.I.G.L. 38-2-1. This purpose is a limitation on the more general purpose of APRA to “facilitate public access to public records.” Id. Rhode Island Courts and the Rhode Island Attorney General have relied on caselaw interpreting FOIA and noted that the United States Supreme Court described FOIA’s “central purpose [being] to ensure that the Government’s activities be opened to the sharp eye of public scrutiny, not that information about private citizens that happens to be in the warehouse of the Government be so disclosed.” The Court continued: “Thus, it should come as no surprise that in none of our cases construing the FOIA have we found it appropriate to order a Government agency to honor a FOIA request for information about a particular private citizen.” U.S. Dept. of Justice v. Reporters Comm. for Freedom of the Press, 489 U.S. 749, 774-775, quoted in DeAscentis v. Town of Jamestown, R.I.A.G. Opinions, AGO PR 14-04.

In determining whether disclosure of personally identifiable records would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, a two-step test is employed. First, whether the information sought includes “personally individually-identifiable records.” This test is met if the information “applies to a particular individual.” DeAscentis, supra, quoting Dept. of State v. Washington Post Co., 456 U.S. 595 (1982). The second part of the test is the determination of whether the requested information, if provided, would constitute a “clearly unwarranted invasion of privacy.” This requires a balancing of the individual’s right of privacy against “the preservation of the public’s right to Government information.” See Dept. of Air Force v. Rose, 425 U.S. 352, 373 (1976), cited in DeAscentis, supra. In making this assessment, the Rhode Island Superior Court noted that the main purpose of APRA is to “shed light on how Government operates.” Fuka v. R.I. Dept. of Environmental Mgmt., R.I. Super. C.A. No. PC07-1050 (April 17, 2007), cited in DeAscentis.

It is our conclusion after applying the appropriate balancing test, that providing the unredacted document would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of student privacy. These students are not, themselves, government employees and their information, to the extent included in your requests, would not, so far as we can determine, shed any light on the operation of Government. Furthermore, the information requested is considered, in the first instance, private under the Family Educational Right to Privacy Act (“FERPA”). While FERPA permits an institution to designate certain information as Directory Information, students and parents have the right to request their data not be considered as such, further underscoring that the information retains its private character regardless of institutional policy.

This letter represents Rhode Island College’s complete response to your request to the extent that it is made pursuant to the Access to Public Records Act.

Please note that in accordance with RI General Laws §38-2-8, you may appeal this determination to Rhode Island College’s chief administrative officer, President Jack R. Warner, the RI Department of Attorney General, or the RI Superior Court for the county in which the records are maintained.

Sincerely,

Nate Cahoon
